A CARD.

Mrs. Tyler Explains Her Unpleasantness with a Constable.

To the Editor of the SENTINEL:

Fort Wayne, Ind., Dec. 5.—Will you please publish a few lines for me, to correct in part a statement in yesterday morning's Gazette, as I did not assume anything like a belligerent attitude until I had great provocation.

After Constable Westrumb gained admittance into our home, I asked him to wait until I could send for my husband, as I knew he could be found and would come immediately. He paid no attention to my request, although he knew I had sent for Mr. Tyler, but proceeded at once to levy upon the goods. I made no opposition until he started to enter my room, where my four little children were. One of them was very ill with sore throat. All of them were terribly frightened by the burly constable. I told him not to enter that room until Mr. Tyler came. He paid no attention to my entreaty, and burst open the door which we had tried to fasten and entered the room where the terror-stricken little ones were crying. I was alone, and their piteous "Oh, mamma! mamma!" almost drove me wild. I knew I had not the muscular strength to pitch him out of the door, so I tried to frighten him, taking up an old revolver belonging to Mr. Tyler's brother, which had not been used for years and was not loaded. I pointed it at him and told him to leave the house immediately. For a moment I thought my ruse was going to succeed, but he could see at a glance the weapon was not in a condition to be dangerous, and so with astonishing courage he caught it from my hand. Such undaunted courage is certainly without a parallel. Respectfully,

MRS. C. TYLER.

THE LAST SCENE.

Death Puts an End to the Sufferings of an Unfortunate Woman.

In Thursday's SENTINEL mention was made of a case of destitution on Lafayette street. The article in question brought the attention of the matter before the relief society, and on Thursday evening, three gentlemen, whose names are withheld by request, procured a hack and drove to the house at No. 112 Creighton avenue, where the family lived instead of Lafayette street, and found the invalid in much such a condition as described in the SENTINEL.

She was placed in the hack and taken to the City Hospital, and was washed and an attempt made to make her comfortable, but notwithstanding all treatment she died on Thursday night.

The unfortunate lady's name was Mrs. Hawkins and her remains have been forwarded to St. Mary's, O., for interment.

In justice to her husband it should be said that he did everything in his power to make her comfortable and used all the means at his command to that end, he being a workman and receiving 80 cents per day for his labor. Their pride deterred them from making their poverty and destitution known to their neighbors, who would have gladly aided them if in their power.

M—dj—ska's Thrilling Story.

According to a St. Louis paper M—dj—ska is writing a story for Scribner's Monthly. It is a love story. The heroine's name is Griseidavitch Topplewatchkitzky, and the hero's, Vladimir Tschezarotsh. The scene is laid in the quiet little Polish village, Stiritupiffvitch, on the banks of the classic river Muddibschky, in the region of the Kotzebutizelosky Mountains. We extract a passage from advance sheets: "With her wan hands she had her face concealed, when to her Vladimir asked if she did truly love him. 'Yea, I lofe thee; by yonder bale moon, I adjure it.' Let us, then, 'said he, 'flee, but she, hesitating by reason of her trunks, which being still unpacked. The tears wandered from her eyes, but meanwhile Valdimir repeated what for she would not be coming pretty soon, not having been aware of the gash the words of him made on the inside of her heart."

About Names.

There are towns named Washington in thirty different states in the union; Brooklyn is repeated 18 times, Williamsburg 20, Baltimore 5, Bangor 10, Boston 10, Buffalo 12, Burlington 17, Charleston 17, Chicago 4, Cincinnati 3, Cleveland 11, Columbus 19, Dayton 25, Detroit 5, Indianapolis 2, Louisville 15, Memphis 8, Milwaukee 3, Nashville 14, Omaha 5, Pittsburgh 8, Philadelphia 7, Portland 14, Quincy 15, Richmond 22, St. Joseph 15, St. Louis 4, St. Paul 12, Toledo 7, Weldon, 7, Wilmington 13. New York is also a name of very frequent occurrence.

A canoe recently left Loma Loma, in the Fiji Islands, with twenty-five natives on board, bound for Toytoya. They were going about when a sudden squall sent the sail against the mast, capsizing the canoe. The unfortunate passengers clung to the canoe, and might have escaped with consequences no worse than those which would have attended discomfort and exposure, but for the fact that the capsize occurred in a locality infested with sharks. These ravenous monsters seized their victims one by one, devouring twenty-three out of the twenty-five unfortunates whose lives were thus placed at their mercy. Of the two who escaped, one is a woman; but her situation is very critical, the whole of the flesh having been taken off one leg.

Another ruined gambler's suicide is announced from Monte Carlo. It was a Russian, who lost $280,000 at roulette. The proprietor offered him $4,000 to enable him to return to his home, but the Russian haughtily declined it. He went, with apparent composure, to his hotel, and there he was found in his room the next morning, hanging by the neck, and dead.

MAUD MULLER.

[Brooklyn Eagle.]

Maud Muller, on a Winter's day,
Went out upon the ice to play.

Beneath her Derby gleamed her locks
Of red banged hair, and her crimson socks.

She straddled about from ten to two,
And then a hole in the ice fell through.

On the bottom of the pond she sat,
As wet and mad as a half-drowned rat.

A man with a hickory pole went there,
And fished her out by her auburn hair.

And her mother is said to have thumped her well—
Though just how hard Miss Maud won't tell—

And hung her over a stovepipe to dry,
With a thumb in her mouth and a fist in her eye.

Alas for the maiden! alas for the hole!
And 'rah for the man with the hickory pole!

For the truest words of tongue or pen
Are, "A skating girl's like a headless hen."

TILDEN'S HOMES.

A Baronial Hall at Yonkers and a City Mansion.

[Yonkers letter to Boston Herald.]

The president de jure, as Mr. Dana would say, lives in a baronial residence at the upper end of Yonkers. "Greystone Park" was the property of Mr. John T. Waring, whom it cost a round half million of dollars. It could be rebuilt to-day for half that sum; but a house and grounds worth $250,000 ought to be good enough for even a president de jure. The house is as imposing architecturally as a castle. It is built of grayish stone, and is of extraordinary height. The furnishing of the house corresponds to the magnificence of the exterior. Perhaps the distinctive feature of the edifice is the noble hall, worthy of an English castle, of immense size, and with its western windows opening upon an unobstructed view of the imperial river and the ragged escarpments beyond. The estate is tastefully laid out, and there is a large variety of trees. Mr. Tilden bought this property for about $150,000. If he ever, as an American president, has occasion to entertain king, queen or kaiser, he can do so quite royally at Greystone, a residence which is beyond comparison with the executive mansion at Washington.

In the winter Mr. Tilden will live in his city house in Gramercy Park, now a familiar name. His city residence is spacious and luxuriously appointed. Gramercy Park is so called on account of the land thereabout belonging originally to the Gramercy farm. The residences of many of the oldest New York families front on the high railed little park, locked in from public intrusion and devoted to neighborhood nurses and babies.

In all his ways Mr. Tilden is quiet and undemonstrative. He prefers the horse cars to a private carriage, and few people are aware that the smooth-faced, elderly gentleman in a silk hat, wrapped in a brown study while the car pursues its rattling way, is the man to whom a majority of the American people gave their suffrages only three years ago. Mr. Tilden has a law office at No. 12 Wall street, but he is seldom there. Denominationally he is a Presbyterian, which is the middle state equivalent of New England "orthodoxy" or Congregationalism. He comes of old colony stock, and has little of the New York effusiveness. Down on Cape Cod he would be considered a mighty sharp selectman. He houses himself magnificently, but is personally unostentatious.

Couldn't Afford to Advertise.

[Hartford Courant.]

There is one prominent concern in Indianapolis that cannot be induced to perceive the advantages of advertising. It occupies a conspicuous position in the city and its buildings are elaborate and spacious. The other day one of the proprietors of the Terre Haute Gazette was in town soliciting advertisements for his paper. After considerable canvassing he stepped into the buildings above mentioned, and launched out into an oration showing the advantages offered by his publication to a live business house. His remarks, however, were coldly listened to and he was informed that the concern had no customers in Terre Haute. This statement only whetted his zeal and he drew forth formidable statistics to show how customers might be attracted from Terre Haute, but he suddenly subsided when the man behind the counter said: "I don't think we can afford to advertise in Terre Haute, young man; this is the gas works."

Much Ado About Nothing.

An Indiana correspondent writes: About eight o'clock last evening an alarm of fire was given in the east end, and in about ten minutes or less almost the entire town was wild with excitement. After the entire corps of firemen with their apparatus had got in good shape, it was discovered that a lamp had exploded at the residence of Mr. Charles McHenry. We never saw such excitement for so little a thing in our time. In the way the firemen turned out Indiana ought to be proud of them.

Humbert and the "Marseillaise" Newspaper Punished for Sedition.

FRANCE.

GREVY'S COURSE.

London, Dec. 6.—A correspondent telegraphs that President Grevy alone at present has the authority required to group the forces of the liberal party and prevent its elements from breaking up in confusion. All impartial observers have for some time remarked this, and all have been sorry to see President Grevy assume a silence which will soon be looked upon as a fault, and almost a neglect of duty. It is time for President Grevy to speak out and indicate to the nation the sure path of peaceful progress.

PRESS PROSECUTIONS.

Paris, Dec. 6.—The Marseillaise newspaper has been suspended for six months and its manager sentenced to one month's imprisonment, and to pay a fine of 500 francs, for publishing the statement of Humbert, in which he stigmatizes the acts of the Versailles courts martial as a prostitution of justice.

Humbert, for making the statement, was sentenced to six months imprisonment. He appealed, but the sentence has been confirmed.

A CARD.

Mrs. Tyler Explains Her Unpleasantness with a Constable.

To the Editor of the SENTINEL:

Fort Wayne, Ind., Dec. 5.—Will you please publish a few lines for me, to correct in part a statement in yesterday morning's Gazette, as I did not assume anything like a belligerent attitude until I had great provocation.

After Constable Westrumb gained admittance into our home, I asked him to wait until I could send for my husband, as I knew he could be found and would come immediately. He paid no attention to my request, although he knew I had sent for Mr. Tyler, but proceeded at once to levy upon the goods. I made no opposition until he started to enter my room, where my four little children were. One of them was very ill with sore throat. All of them were terribly frightened by the burly constable. I told him not to enter that room until Mr. Tyler came. He paid no attention to my entreaty, and burst open the door which we had tried to fasten and entered the room where the terror-stricken little ones were crying. I was alone, and their piteous "Oh, mamma! mamma!" almost drove me wild. I knew I had not the muscular strength to pitch him out of the door, so I tried to frighten him, taking up an old revolver belonging to Mr. Tyler's brother, which had not been used for years and was not loaded. I pointed it at him and told him to leave the house immediately. For a moment I thought my ruse was going to succeed, but he could see at a glance the weapon was not in a condition to be dangerous, and so with astonishing courage he caught it from my hand. Such undaunted courage is certainly without a parallel. Respectfully,

MRS. C. TYLER.

THE LAST SCENE.

Death Puts an End to the Sufferings of an Unfortunate Woman.

In Thursday's SENTINEL mention was made of a case of destitution on Lafayette street. The article in question brought the attention of the matter before the relief society, and on Thursday evening, three gentlemen, whose names are withheld by request, procured a hack and drove to the house at No. 112 Creighton avenue, where the family lived instead of Lafayette street, and found the invalid in much such a condition as described in the SENTINEL.

She was placed in the hack and taken to the City Hospital, and was washed and an attempt made to make her comfortable, but notwithstanding all treatment she died on Thursday night.

The unfortunate lady's name was Mrs. Hankins and her remains have been forwarded to St. Mary's, O., for interment.

In justice to her husband it should be said that he did everything in his power to make her comfortable and used all the means at his command to that end, he being a workman and receiving 80 cents per day for his labor. Their pride deterred them from making their poverty and destitution known to their neighbors, who would have gladly aided them if in their power.

M—dj—ska's Thrilling Story.

According to a St. Louis paper M—dj—ska is writing a story for Scribner's Monthly. It is a love story. The heroine's name is Griseidavitch Topplewatchkitzky, and the hero's, Vladimir Tschezarotsh. The scene is laid in the quiet little Polish village, Stiritupifvitch, on the banks of the classic river Muddibschky, in the region of the Kotzebutizelosky Mountains. We extract a passage from advance sheets: "With her wan hands she had her face concealed, when to her Vladimir asked if she did truly love him. 'Yea, I lofe thee; by yonder bale moon, I adjure it.' Let us, then, 'said he, 'flee, but she, hesitating by reason of her trunks, which being still unpacked. The tears wandered from her eyes, but meanwhile Valdimir repeated what for she would not be coming pretty soon, not having been aware of the gash the words of him made on the inside of her heart."

About Names.

There are towns named Washington in thirty different states in the union; Brooklyn is repeated 18 times, Williamsburg 20, Baltimore 5, Bangor 10, Boston 10, Buffalo 12, Burlington 17, Charleston 17, Chicago 4, Cincinnati 8, Cleveland 11, Columbus 19, Dayton 25, Detroit 5, Indianapolis 2, Louisville 15, Memphis 8, Milwaukee 3, Nashville 14, Omaha 5, Pittsburgh 8, Philadelphia 7, Portland 14, Quincy 15, Richmond 22, St. Joseph 15, St. Louis 4, St. Paul 12, Toledo 7, Weldon, 7, Wilmington 13. New York is also a name of very frequent occurrence.

A canoe recently left Loma Loma, in the Fiji Islands, with twenty-five natives on board, bound for Toytoya. They were going about when a sudden squall sent the sail against the mast, capsizing the canoe. The unfortunate passengers clung to the canoe, and might have escaped with consequences no worse than those which would have attended discomfort and exposure, but for the fact that the capsize occurred in a locality infested with sharks. These ravenous monsters seized their victims one by one, devouring twenty-three out of the twenty-five unfortunates whose lives were thus placed at their mercy. Of the two who escaped, one is a woman; but her situation is very critical, the whole of the flesh having been taken off one leg.

Another ruined gambler's suicide is announced from Monte Carlo. It was a Russian, who lost $280,000 at roulette. The proprietor offered him $4,000 to enable him to return to his home, but the Russian haughtily declined it. He went, with apparent composure, to his hotel, and there he was found in his room the next morning, hanging by the neck, and dead.

MAUD MULLER.

[Brooklyn Eagle.]

Maud Muller, on a Winter's day,
Went out upon the ice to play.

Beneath her Derby gleamed her locks
Of red banged hair, and her crimson socks,

She straddled about from ten to two,
And then a hole in the ice fell through.

On the bottom of the pond she sat,
As wet and mad as a half-drowned rat.

A man with a hickory pole went there,
And fished her out by her auburn hair.

And her mother is said to have thumped her well—
Though just how hard Miss Maud won't tell—

And hung her over a stovepipe to dry,
With a thumb in her mouth and a fist in her eye.

Alas for the maiden! alas for the hole!
And 'rah for the man with the hickory pole!

For the truest words of tongue or pen
Are, "A skating girl's like a headless hen."

TILDEN'S HOMES.

A Baronial Hall at Yonkers and a City Mansion.

[Yonkers letter to Boston Herald.]

The president de jure, as Mr. Dana would say, lives in a baronial residence at the upper end of Yonkers. "Greystone Park" was the property of Mr. John T. Waring, whom it cost a round half million of dollars. It could be rebuilt to-day for half that sum; but a house and grounds worth $250,000 ought to be good enough for even a president de jure. The house is as imposing architecturally as a castle. It is built of grayish stone, and is of extraordinary height. The furnishing of the house corresponds to the magnificence of the exterior. Perhaps the distinctive feature of the edifice is the noble hall, worthy of an English castle, of immense size, and with its western windows opening upon an unobstructed view of the imperial river and the ragged escarpments beyond. The estate is tastefully laid out, and there is a large variety of trees., Mr. Tilden bought this property for about $150,000. If he ever, as an American president, has occasion to entertain king, queen or kaiser, he can do so quite royally at Greystone, a residence which is beyond comparison with the executive mansion at Washington.

In the winter Mr. Tilden will live in his city house in Gramercy Park, now a familiar name. His city residence is spacious and luxuriously appointed. Gramercy Park is so called on account of the land thereabout belonging originally to the Gramercy farm. The residences of many of the oldest New York families front on the high railed little park, locked in from public intrusion and devoted to neighborhood nurses and babies.

In all his ways Mr. Tilden is quiet and undemonstrative. He prefers the horse cars to a private carriage, and few people are aware that the smooth-faced, elderly gentleman in a silk hat, wrapped in a brown study while the car pursues its rattling way, is the man to whom a majority of the American people gave their suffrages only three years ago. Mr. Tilden has a law office at No. 12 Wall street, but he is seldom there. Denominationally he is a Presbyterian, which is the middle state equivalent of New England "orthodoxy" or Congregationalism. He comes of old colony stock, and has little of the New York effusiveness. Down on Cape Cod he would be considered a mighty sharp selectman. He houses himself magnificently, but is personally unostentatious.

Couldn't Afford to Advertise.

(Hartford Courant.)

There is one prominent concern in Indianapolis that cannot be induced to perceive the advantages of advertising. It occupies a conspicuous position in the city and its buildings are elaborate and spacious. The other day one of the proprietors of the Terre Haute Gazette was in town soliciting advertisements for his paper. After considerable canvassing he stepped into the buildings above mentioned, and launched out into an oration showing the advantages offered by his publication to a live business house. His remarks, however, were coldly listened to and he was informed that the concern had no customers in Terre Haute. This statement only whetted his zeal and he drew forth formidable statistics to show how customers might be attracted from Terre Haute, but he suddenly subsided when the man behind the counter said: "I don't think we can afford to advertise in Terre Haute, young man; this is the gas works."

Much Ado About Nothing.

An Indiana correspondent writes: About eight o'clock last evening an alarm of fire was given in the east end, and in about ten minutes or less almost the entire town was wild with excitement. After the entire corps of firemen with their apparatus had got in good shape, it was discovered that a lamp had exploded at the residence of Mr. Charles McHenry. We never saw such excitement for so little a thing in our time. In the way the firemen turned out Indiana ought to be proud of them.

CIRCULATION

Of The "Daily Sentinel."

The following is the circulation of the "Daily Sentinel" for the week ending November 29th, 1879:

Monday, Nov. 24	4,440
Tuesday, Nov. 25	4,392
Wednesday, Nov. 26	4,416
Friday, Nov. 28	4,368
Saturday, Nov. 29	4,39[illegible]
Total	22,008
Average for the week	4,402

Personally appeared before me, Robert A. Meers, a notary public in and for the county of Allen and state of Indiana, William R. Nelson, one of the publishers of the Fort Wayne "Daily Sentinel," who being duly sworn testified that the above is a true statement of the circulation of the "Sentinel" for the above dates.

ROBERT A. MEERS, Notary Public.

INDIANA has the largest school fund of any state. It carries $11,600,000 in school property and $9,000,000 in the state treasury, a total of $20,000,000, or $70 to every child in the public schools. This is a pretty good showing for a democratic state. With the largest school fund and the best credit of any state in the Union, Indiana affords evidence of the wisdom and beneficence of democratic rule which cannot be gainsayed.

THE GRANT movement still booms. ROBESON says that if GRANT should be elected CONKLING would be at the head of the cabinet and he (ROBESON) would be restored to the navy department "more with a view of vindication than anything else." BELKNAP announces himself for GRANT. S[illegible] DELANO and so is PATTERSON, and so is BELKNAP and SARGEANT, SHEPHERD, MITCHELL, WILLIAMS, and all the rest of the unsavory crew who made GRANT'S first and second administrations the most corrupt in the history of the country. Can it be that the people are anxious for another dose of Grantism?

STATE POLITICS.

The Booneville Enquirer flies the Hendricks and Hancock flag.

The Bedford Journal and the Washington Times are in favor of Morris C. Hunter for governor.

The [illegible]-Standard considers Gen. Shackleford the best man the republicans can nominate for governor.

The Crawfordsville [illegible] says: General M. D. Manson ... of state, is the ... Indiana, in the next ... fourths of the voters ... less of party views. ... the present ... for governor ... campaign, ... of three- ... regard-

For President, Thomas A. Hendricks, of Indiana; for Vice President, Horatio Seymour, ... Charlottesville (N. C.) ... the way ... puts it.

The Winamac Democrat ... says: ... among the ... for presidential ... president ... com- ... the ... W. W. ... United ... first- ... 00

The Rockport Democrat has the following:

The Washington Post says the Seymour movement is "booming in Indiana." Well, not much. The Indiana boom is for Thomas A. Hendricks, and the Post had better tell its readers that such is the "unalterable decree of the Indiana democracy.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

The Sentinel would rather see the democratic party defeated than force its pet candidate to lose the nomination for the presidency. We can tell the Sentinel that there is a Seymour boom in Indiana, whether it has ever been heard or or not. And if Tilden should be dropped from the ticket, the boom in Indiana for Seymour will know no bounds. There is one thing certain, if Tilden is dropped, Hendricks will also be dropped. The tail must go with the hide.

PERSONAL.

Gen. B. F. Butler is said to be ill at his residence in Lowell.

The youngest daughter of Secretary Stanton is engaged to Lieutenant Bush of the 5th United States artillery. HERE AND THERE.

The steamship Great Eastern is to be overhauled, provided with new machinery, and adapted to the carrying of live cattle from Canada to the United States. She will be ready next March.

The old trick of getting up a sham fight in a theater gallery and then throwing a stuffed man over the railing, was played at Leadville the other evening. A panic was caused, and an actress on the stage fainted.

Railway sleepers made of toughened glass are the latest experiment in England. Recent attempts show them to be feasible. The material can be obtained in enormous quantities from the slag of blast furnaces, now almost a waste product.

An object glass thirty inches in diameter, has been ordered of Alvan Clark & Sons, of Cambridge, Mass., for the telescope of the Russian observatory at Pulkowa. It will cost over $30,000, and take three years to complete. The glass discs, out of which it will be made, are to be imported from England. The largest object glass now in use is the twenty-six inch refractor at Washington.

If hostilities are resumed the Egyptian forces will be divided into two armies, offensive and defensive, the former to be composed of 8,000 men and the latter 12,000. The offensive army will be directed on the Egyptian harbor of Ask[illegible]o, near Odna, capitol of Abysinnia, and the defensive army will take up two entrenched positions, one at Gazira, near the Rabal river, and the other at Bahia, on the Reuder river, thus commanding the two main roads of Abysinnia leading from the north to the Sandaw. Gordon Pasha will command the defensive army.

"Fatinitza" will be performed in Lynn next Monday evening and in Portland, Me., next Friday by the Boston Ideal Opera Company.

Mrs. General Gilflery, now acting at the national opera house, Washington, wears the most magnificent costumes ever displayed on any stage.

"Pinafore" has reached the last stage of perversion. A "Cat and Kitten Pinafore Company" has taken the road. It ought to be bootjacked out of existence.

"Pinafore" has been translated into the Russian language, and will soon be brought out in St. Petersburg and Moscow, and thus the fame of Gilbert and Sullivan extends.

At the Academy of Music, Philadelphia, a burlesque upon "Pinafore," entitled "Her Majesty's Little Cats and Kittens," has been produced. Two hundred juveniles, costumed as cats, appeared.

Mr. W. S. Gilbert, the librettist of "Pinafore," and Mr. Frederick Clay, the well-known English composer, were present at Dr. Arthur Sullivan's debut at Boston Music Hall last Sunday morning.

Miss Maud Banks, daughter of Gen. Banks, has made her debut at Brookline, Mass., as an actress in an amateur company. She intends to go on the professional stage. The general was once an actor.

The new English "Pinafore" Company will be pretty sure to make money as most people will wish to compare their performance with the American. Besides, the original orchestration by Sullivan has not been heard here yet.

At the first of the London popular concerts Miss Lillian Bailey made her debut. She is American, and a pupil of Viardot and Herr Henschel. She is described as possessing a very pure soprano voice and excellent execution. She was recalled three times, and her success is beyond doubt.

Dr. Sullivan speaks in very complimentary terms of Americans and the musical culture exhibited by them. He says of "Pinafore," as given in this country and in London: "You cannot imagine how different the performance. I can scarcely recognize my own work. Perhaps I cannot better illustrate my feelings than by saying that I feel upon seeing "Pinafore" here as a father would feel upon the return of his son, who had been absent from home a few years and who had in the meantime permitted his face to be ornamented with a growth of whiskers. While the general features are the same the changes are such as to make the well-known object appear unfamiliar. The tempo is changed so that the first chorus is sung here as if it were a French cancan instead of in the proper time. The Admiral's song is sung too fast, as also the chorus 'Lightly Tripping.' Both should be slow and in marked time."

R. H. Sayres, late mail agent, running on the Kentucky Central railroad, was found guilty of stealing money from letters, and was Friday sentenced by Judge Baxter to three years in the Auburn, N. Y., penitentiary.

John Elliott, brother of the late Judge Elliott, of the Kentucky court of appeals, killed by Buford, has been found guilty of illicit distilling, moonshining, and sentenced by Judge Baxter to four months in the Covington jail.

Lizzie Falk a laundry girl in the employ of the Russell House, Detroit, while descending in the freight compartment of the hotel elevator, on Friday, was caught between the elevator and projecting beam and her neck and lower jaw were so terribly crushed as to cause instant death.

A report telegraphed from New Orleans about affairs in Madison Parish, La., is pronounced false in every particular. R. H. Brown, the man reported hanged, was at home at Tallulah Friday evening well and hearty. Other cases reported are on a par with that of Brown. The election passed off more quietly than has been known for years.

Berry Russell, formerly president of a bank in Lafayette, Ind., was indicted by the grand jury at New Orleans, Friday, charged with embezzling bonds and money of the bank in June, 1878. The bail was fixed at $20,000. Russell is already under $15,000 bonds for his appearance at the criminal court, in proceedings instituted by liquidators. The grand jury also indicted Dr. H. P. Wahl for attempting to set fire to a residence last August. Bail, $10,000.

A few days ago United States Detective Finnegan went to Los Angelos, Cal., on intelligence from the chief of police from that city that he had arrested a man for passing a counterfeit $5 gold piece. On questioning the prisoner, Finnegan got a clue to a place in the moutains where the manufacture of the coin was carried on. In Dalton canon, Sierra Nevada range, he found in a deserted camp a lot of counterfeiting tools and also a lot of paper. Elmore Mutlock and William Dewis were arrested and held in $3,000 and $2,000 bail respectively. Counterfeit coin has been circulated all through the southern portion of the state.

A terrible accident took place in the grain and flour mill of Ellis Packard, at Brockton, Mass., Friday night, in which C. A. Nourse, Dennis Lynch and Dennis Roarder lost their lives by suffocation. The men had been at work on the second floor of the building shoveling corn for the past two or three days, and at the time of the accident had transferred about 6,000 bushels from the elevator to the floor, where it lay in bulk. Suddenly, without the slightest warning, the timbers and flooring gave way and the men were precipated about twenty feet into the cellar, and buried deeply by about 3,000 bushels of corn, which fell with them. The bodies were taken out. The building was twenty-five years old, and the timbers were probably weakened by decay.

The president has appointed Wilbur K. Smiley, of Providence, R. I., to fill the vacancy on the board of Indian commissioners caused by the death of J. D. Long. The president also appointed Gen. Geo. Robert Egenbelt, a tramp, was convicted of being a tramp in the Franklin county common pleas court Friday, the first conviction there since the stringent tramp law was passed. The penalty is from one to three years confinement. The law is having a salutary effect in Columbus.

The Ute Commission.

The commission at Los Pinos is progressing finely. Jack is still on the stand. So far he has proved the most valuable witness yet, answering all questions promptly and keeping to the point. He claims the removal of the agency was the commencement of the trouble; that at an elevation of 8,000 feet, with frost every month in the year, farming was impossible; that he and his bands received no rations for a year, which he claims was a violation of the treaty of 1868; that his engagement with the troops was a fair fight. He calls Douglass a squaw man for having attacked the agency, and insists that a white man, under the circumstances, would have fought Thornburg.

Bayard and McDonald.

[Congressman Morrison, of Illinois.]

"Who is your choice?"

"I am for Bayard, and think that he is a man that would win."

"Do you think there is a good prospect for his nomination?"

"Well, it begins to look so. His strength is increasing every day. I think that Bayard can carry New York easier than any New York man except Seymour, and I understand that he will not accept."

"Who do you think would make a good second to Bayard?"

"Senator McDonald, of Indiana. Bayard and McDonald would make the strongest ticket that we could nominate."

A Tragedian's Sore Throat.—Edwin Booth, like most of his professional brethren, suffers frequently from severe inflammation of the throat, which prevents him occasionally from appearing on the stage. This theatrical sore throat is sometimes so serious that it actually drives an actor into private life. Booth, however, promptly stops the first symptom with Giles' Liniment Iodide Ammonia.

SKIN DISEASES.

A Severe Case of Five Years' Duration Entirely Cured.

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen—For the benefit of the world I wish to make this statement: I have been afflicted with a skin disease for about five years, and have tried almost everything that I could hear of, without any relief whatever, until I saw your CUTICURA REMEDIES advertised, and concluded to try them.

I certify that I only used them about six weeks until I was entirely well, but before I commenced using them, my face, breast, and back were almost a solid scab, and I often scratched the blood from my body. I am now entirely well and think your CUTICURA REMEDIES are the best for skin diseases that ever was brought before the public.

Very gratefully yours, F. M. FOP, Caddo, Ind. Ter., Feb. 21, 1879.

SALT RHEUM.

Helpless for Eight Years—Unable to Walk—Got About on Hands and Knees—A Wonderful Cure.

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen—I had a most wonderful cure of Salt Rheum. For seventeen years I suffered with Salt Rheum; I had it on my head, face, neck, arms and legs. I was not able to walk, only on my hands and knees, for one year. I have not been able to help myself for eight years. I tried hundreds of remedies; not one had the least effect. The doctors said my case was incurable. So my parents tried everything that came along. I saw your advertisement and concluded to try CUTICURA REMEDIES. The first box of CUTICURA brought the humor to the surface of my skin. It would drop off as it came out, until now I am entirely well. All I can say is, I thank you most heartily for my cure. Any person who thinks this letter a fraud let them write or come and see me and find out for themselves. WILL McDONALD,

1,315 Butterfield St., Chicago, Ill., March 4, 1879.

CIRCULATION

Of The "Daily Sentinel."

The following is the circulation of the "Daily Sentinel" for the week ending November 29th, 1879:

Monday, Nov. 24	4,440
Tuesday, Nov. 25	4,392
Wednesday, Nov. 26	4,416
Friday, Nov. 28	4,368
Saturday, Nov. 29	4,392
Total	22,008
Average for the week	4,402

Personally appeared before me, Robert A. Meers, a notary public in and for the county of Allen and state of Indiana, William R. Nelson, one of the publishers of the Fort Wayne "Daily Sentinel," who being duly sworn testified that the above is a true statement of the circulation of the "Sentinel" for the above dates.

ROBERT A. MEERS, Notary Public.

INDIANA has the largest school fund of any state. It carries $11,600,000 in school property and $9,000,000 in the state treasury, a total of $20,000,000, or $70 to every child in the public schools. This is a pretty good showing for a democratic state. With the largest school fund and the best credit of any state in the Union, Indiana affords evidence of the wisdom and beneficence of democratic rule which cannot be gainsayed.

THE GRANT movement still booms. ROBESON says that if GRANT should be elected CONKLING would be at the head of the cabinet and he (ROBESON) would be restored to the navy department "more with a view of vindication than anything else." BELKNAP announces himself for GRANT. So is DELANO and so is PATTERSON, and so is BELKNAP and SARGEANT, SHEPHERD, MITCHELL, WILLIAMS and all the rest of the unsavory crew who made GRANT'S first and second administrations the most corrupt in the history of the country. Can it be that the people are anxious for another dose of Grantism?

STATE POLITICS.

The Booneville Enquirer flies the Hendricks and Hancock flag.

The Bedford Journal and the Washington Times are in favor of Morton. C. Hunter for governor.

The Logan-Standard considers Gen. Shackleford the best man the republicans can nominate for governor.

The Crawfordsville Star says:

General M. D. Manson, editor of state, is the candidate of Indiana, in the next months of the voters of party views.

For President, Thomas A. Hendricks, of Indiana; For Vice President, Horatio Seymour, of [illegible]; a Charlottesville (N. Y.) paper puts it.

The Winamac Democrat says:

[illegible] among the [illegible] for president. [illegible] president [illegible] one com- [illegible] ana and [illegible]

W. W. [illegible] nted [illegible] irst- [illegible] 00

The Rockport Democrat has the following:

The Washington Post says the Seymous movement is "booming in Indiana." Well, not much. The Indiana boom is for Thomas A. Hendricks, and the Post had better tell its readers that such is the unalterable decree of the Indiana democracy.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

The Sentinel would rather see the democratic party defeated than for its pet candidate to lose the nomination for the presidency. We can tell the Sentinel that there is a Seymour boom in Indiana whether it has ever been heard of or not. And if Tilden should be dropped from the ticket, the boom in Indiana for Seymour will know no bounds. There is one thing certain, if Tilden is dropped, Hendricks will also be dropped. The tail must go with the hide.

PERSONAL.

Gen. B. F. Butler is said to be ill at his residence in Lowell.

Lord Roseberry is said to have just won $100,000 on the turf.

Don Carlos has no luck. He has been defrauded of 30,000 francs which he gave to a servant, to deposit in a Paris bank for him. The servant absconded with it.

At Statesville, N. C., the other day, Col. Buzzard married Miss Crow, the officiating clergyman being the Rev. Dr. Robin. The bird law must be in force in that state.

The youngest daughter of Secretary Stanton is engaged to Lieutenant Bush of the 5th United States artillery. She was engaged some time ago to a member of the Turkish Legation at Washington, but when the Turk informed her guardian that his wife would occupy the same position at his home that other Turkish wives do the guardian refused his consent.

HERE AND THERE.

The steamship Great Eastern is to be overhauled, provided with new machinery, and adapted to the carrying of live cattle from Canada to the United States. She will be ready next March.

The old trick of getting up a sham fight in a theater gallery and then throwing a stuffed man over the railing, was played at Leadville the other evening. A panic was caused, and an actress on the stage fainted.

Railway sleepers made of toughened glass are the latest experiment in England. Recent attempts show the idea to be feasible. The material can be obtained in enormous quantities from the slag of blast furnaces, now almost a waste product.

An object glass thirty inches in diameter, has been ordered of Alvan Clark & Sons, of Cambridge, Mass., for the telescope of the Russian observatory at Pulkowa. It will cost over $30,000, and take three years to complete it. The glass discs, out of which it will be made, are to be imported from England. The largest object glass now in use is the twenty-inch refractor at Washington.

If hostilities are resumed the Egyptian forces will be divided into two armies, offensive and defensive, the former to be composed of 8,000 men and the latter 12,000. The offensive army will be directed on the Egyptian harbor of Asab, near Odna, capitol of Abyssinia, and the defensive army will take up two entrenched positions, one at Gazim, near the Rabal river, and the other at Bahia, on the Reuder river, thus commanding the two main roads of Abyssinia leading from the north to the Sandaw. Gordon Pasha will command the defensive army.

Mme. Nilsson will receive $18,000 for twelve performances in Spain during the wedding festivities of King Alfonso.

Boston's new Metropolitan Church Choir, under the direction of Eugene Thayer, has a membership of about 100 voices.

Sara Bernhardt, the actress and artist, has been very ill, and though her health is now improving, she has not yet recovered.

According to the New York Herald "Paul and Mabel" is rumored to be the name of Messrs. Gilbert and Sullivan's new opera.

"Fatinitza" will be performed in Lynn next Monday evening and in Portland, Me., next Friday by the Boston Ideal Opera Company.

Mrs. General Gilflory, now acting at the national opera house, Washington, wears the most magnificent costumes ever displayed on any stage.

"Pinafore" has reached the last stage of perversion. A "Cat and Kitten Pinafore Company" has taken the road. It ought to be bootjacked out of existence.

"Pinafore" has been translated into the Russian language, and will soon be brought out in St. Petersburg and Moscow, and thus the fame of Gilbert and Sullivan extends.

At the Academy of Music, Philadelphia, a burlesque upon "Pinafore," entitled "Her Majesty's Little Cats and Kittens," has been produced. Two hundred juveniles, costumed as cats, appeared.

Mr. W. S. Gilbert, the librettist of "Pinafore," and Mr. Frederick Clay, the well-known English composer, were present at Dr. Arthur Sullivan's debut at Boston Music Hall last Sunday morning.

Miss Maud Banks, daughter of Gen. Banks, has made her debut at Brookline, Mass., as an actress in an amateur company. She intends to go on the professional stage. The general was once an actor.

The new English "Pinafore" Company will be pretty sure to make money as most people will wish to compare their performance with the American. Besides, the original orchestration by Sullivan has not been heard here yet.

At the first of the London popular concerts Miss Lillian Bailey made her debut. She is American, and a pupil of Viardot and Herr Henschel. She is described as possessing a very pure soprano voice and excellent execution. She was recalled three times, and her success is beyond doubt.

Dr. Sullivan speaks in very complimentary terms of Americans and the musical culture exhibited by them. He says of "Pinafore," as given in this country and in London: "You cannot imagine how different the performance. I can scarcely recognize my own work. Perhaps I cannot better illustrate my feelings than by saying that I feel upon seeing "Pinafore" here as a father would feel upon the return of his son, who had been absent from home a few years and who had in the meantime permitted his face to be ornamented with a growth of whiskers. While the general features are the same the changes are such as to make the well-known object appear unfamiliar. The tempo is changed so that the first chorus is sung here as if it were a French can-can instead of in the proper time. The Admiral's song is sung too fast, as also the chorus 'Lightly Tripping.' Both should be slow and in marked time."

The report of strained relations between Egypt and Abyssinnia is greatly exaggerated. No troops have left Cairo, and none are preparing to leave except one battalion, which Gordon Pasha requested in his last communication.

CRIMES AND CASUALTIES.

The steamer Henry W. Frank sustained $5,000 damages by a storm encountered Friday morning, at Helena, Ark.

The story about two lions being loose in Madison county, Ill., and having killed one man and two children proves to be a hoax.

At Cincinnati, Friday, a vulcanizer used in the rubber stamp manufactory of J. R. Murdock, exploded, severely if not fatally injuring Mr. Jantz, the engineer, and a workman.

U. S. Marshal Cochrane arrested E. P. Wilet and G. W. Williams at Demossville, Ky., Friday, on a charge of counterfeiting. They were taken before Commissioner Bostinck and required to give $8,000 bail.

R. H. Sayres, late mail agent, running on the Kentucky Central railroad, was found guilty of stealing money from letters, and was Friday sentenced by Judge Baxter to three years in the Auburn, N. Y., penitentiary.

John Elliott, brother of the late Judge Elliott, of the Kentucky court of appeals, killed by Buford, has been found guilty of illicit distilling, moonshining, and sentenced by Judge Baxter to four months in the Covington jail.

Lizzie Falk a laundry girl in the employ of the Russell House, Detroit, while descending in the freight compartment of the hotel elevator, on Friday, was caught between the elevator and projecting beam and her neck and lower jaw were so terribly crushed as to cause instant death.

A report telegraphed from New Orleans about affairs in Madison Parish, La., is pronounced false in every particular. R. H. Brown, the man reported hanged, was at home at Tallulah Friday evening well and hearty. Other cases reported are on a par with that of Brown. The election passed off more quietly than has been known for years.

Berry Russell, formerly president of a bank in Lafayette, Ind., was indicted by the grand jury at New Orleans, Friday, charged with embezzling bonds and money of the bank in June, 1878. The bail was fixed at $20,000. Russell is already under $15,000 bonds for his appearance at the criminal court, in proceedings instituted by liquidators. The grand jury also indicted Dr. H. P. Wahl for attempting to set fire to a residence last August. Bail, $10,000.

A few days ago United States Detective Finnegan went to Los Angelos, Cal., on intelligence from the chief of police from that city that he had arrested a man for passing a counterfeit $5 gold piece. On questioning the prisoner, Finnegan got a clue to a place in the mountains where the manufacture of the coin was carried on. In Dalton canon, Sierra Nevada range, he found in a deserted camp a lot of counterfeiting tools and also a lot of paper. Elmore Matlock and William Dewis were arrested and held in $3,000 and $2,000 bail respectively. Counterfeit coin has been circulated all through the southern portion of the state.

A terrible accident took place in the grain and flour mill of Ellis Packard, at Brockton, Mass., Friday night, in which C. A. Nourse, Dennis Lynch and Dennis Roarder lost their lives by suffocation. The men had been at work on the second floor of the building shoveling corn for the past two or three days, and at the time of the accident had transferred about 5,000 bushels from the elevator to the floor, where it lay in bulk. Suddenly, without the slightest warning, the timbers and flooring gave way and the men were precipated about twenty feet into the cellar, and buried deeply by about 3,000 bushels of corn, which fell with them. The bodies were taken out. The building was twenty-five years old, and the timbers were probably weakened by decay.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

The secretary of the interior has declared that the benefits of the timber culture law may be secured by planting cottonwood trees. This decision reverses the former ruling of the department.

The president has appointed Wilbur K. Smiley, of Providence, R. I., to fill the vacancy on the board of Indian commissioners caused by the death of J. D. Long. The president also appointed Gen. Geo. Stoneman, of Cal., to fill another vacancy in the board, which has remained unfilled for about four years. The board now consists of ten members, the maximum number.

OHIO NEWS.

The Northwestern Ohio Medical Association is in session at Lima.

J. H. McCullough, a leading citizen of Van Wert, died Monday, and was buried Friday with Odd Fellows' honors.

Robert Egenbelt, a tramp, was convicted of being a tramp in the Franklin county common pleas court Friday, the first conviction there since the stringent tramp law was passed. The penalty is from one to three years confinement. The law is having a salutary effect in Columbus.

The Ute Commission.

The commission at Los Pinos is progressing finely. Jack is still on the stand. So far he has proved the most valuable witness yet, answering all questions promptly and keeping to the point. He claims the removal of the agency was the commencement of the trouble; that at an elevation of 8,000 feet, with frost every month in the year, farming was impossible; that he and his bands received no rations for a year, which he claims was a violation of the treaty of 1868; that his engagement with the troops was a fair fight. He calls Douglass a squaw man for having attacked the agency, and insists that a white man, under the circumstances, would have fought Thornburg.

Bayard and McDonald.

[Congressman Morrison, of Illinois.]

"Who is your choice?"

"I am for Bayard, and think that he is a man that would win."

"Do you think there is a good prospect for his nomination?"

"Well, it begins to look so. His strength is increasing every day. I think that Bayard can carry New York easier than any New York man except Seymour, and I understand that he will not accept."

"Who do you think would make a good second to Bayard?"

"Senator McDonald, of Indiana. Bayard and McDonald would make the strongest ticket that we could nominate."

The "Sentinel."

[LaGrange Democrat.]

The Fort Wayne SENTINEL is growing better all the time. If any of our friends in LaGrange want a cheap daily which gives the cream of the general doings of the country, they should send 25 cents to the publishers and try it for a month.

A Tragedian's Sore Throat.— Edwin Booth, like most of his professional brethren, suffers frequently from severe inflammation of the throat, which prevents him occasionally from appearing on the stage. This theatrical sore throat is sometimes so serious that it actually drives an actor into private life. Booth, however, promptly stops the first symptom with Giles' Liniment Iodide Ammonia.

Messrs. I certify that I only used them about six weeks until I was entirely well, but before I commenced using them, my face, breast, and back were almost a solid scab, and I often scratched the blood from my body. SALT RHEUM.

Helpless for Eight Years—Unable to Walk—Got About on Hands and Knees—A Wonderful Cure.

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen—I had a most wonderful cure of Salt Rheum. For seventeen years I suffered with Salt Rheum; I had it on my head, face, neck, arms and legs. I was not able to walk, only on my hands and knees, for one year. I have not been able to help myself for eight years. I tried hundreds of remedies, not one had the least effect. The doctors said my case was incurable. So my parents tried everything that came along. I saw your advertisement and concluded to try CUTICURA REMEDIES. The first box of CUTICURA brought the humor to the surface of my skin. It would drop off as it came out, until now I am entirely well. All I can say is, I thank you most heartily for my cure. Any person who thinks this letter a fraud let them write or come and see me and find out for themselves. WILL MCDONALD,

FUNNY FOLKS.

Who Have Had Fun and How They Have Had It.

Fun Matrimonially, Fun at Clubs. Fun a la Terpsichore, and Fun in General.

Socials, Parties, Balls, etc., Make the Week a Merry One—Personalities and Generalities.

REVIEW OF THE WEEK.

Cupid having taken a short rest from his arduous labors, society people have this week taken more kindly to other festivities. The matrimonial fever has not raged so fiercely this week as last, but a relapse will occur soon. The notable events of the week have been the party at J. B. White's, Thursday, the Alert ball and the West End and Standard Clubs' meetings.

A BRILLIANT AFFAIR.

The most brilliant social event of the week was a dress party, on Thursday evening, at the residence of Capt. J. B. White, No. 60 Barr street, Mr. John White and his sister doing the honors as host and hostess. A large number of invitations were issued, confined to the creme de la creme of younger society in Fort Wayne. All the appointments of the affair were elegant and in good taste. The young ladies were dressed in a most handsome and becoming manner and never looked lovelier. The refreshments were superb. Among those present were Miss America Hoagland, the Misses Edgerton, the Misses Bourie, Miss Nellie Angell, Miss Connie Davis of Santa Fe, Miss Jesse Hanna, Miss Kate Freeman, Miss Flora Orff, the Misses Hill, Miss Mary Randall, Miss Jessie Withers, Messrs. Edgerton, Orff, Hoagland, Thieme, Bash, Pickard, McKinnie, Rockhill, Emerick, Morris, Miller, Oppenheim, Freeman, and a great many others whose names were not learned. The music was furnished by Profs. Wellenstein and Schultz, and the waltzes, quadrilles and Germans were indulged in until the wee sma' hours.

WEST END CLUB.

Judge Huestis and wife and Chas. Huestis and wife united last night in entertaining the West End Club at their elegant mansions on West Berry street. Nearly every member of the club was present, and the affair was a most brilliant and enjoyable one in every respect. The Messrs. Huestis and their wives left nothing undone to contribute to the pleasure of their guests. The Sinn brothers furnished the music, which was excellent. The following is a complete list of the members of the club: Mr. and Mrs. K. H. Wade, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Huestis, Judge and Mrs. Robert Lowry, Col. and Mrs. R. S. Robertson, Gen. and Mrs. Frank Case of Denver, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Woodworth, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. D. Crane, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ellison, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Jenkinson, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Woodworth, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Case, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Brenton, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Woodworth, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Huestis, Misses Emma Jenkinson, Annie Lowry, Nellie Brenton, Laura and Alida Woodworth, Alice Wilson, Miss Ellison, Messrs. Hillegass, Harper, Alden, Stephen Morris, Bush, Nolton and Spencer.

THE ALERT BALL.

The Alert ball on Thursday night was a pronounced success. The crowd was a large but eminently respectable one, and the ball was universally pronounced one of the finest affairs of the kind ever given in the city. Reinecke's orchestra furnished the music, which was excellent. A list of the guests would fill a column in the SENTINEL. It is only necessary to say in addition to what has already been said in these columns, that the Alerts have never yet made a failure of anything they undertook, and the affair of Thursday night only added to their well-earned reputation.

STANDARD CLUB HOP.

The Standard Club gave another party at their hall in Foster Brothers' block on Court street Thursday evening, and it was a most delightful affair. The ladies belonging to the Standard Club are noted for their personal beauty and rich dressing, and on Thursday evening they looked "perfectly lovely." Among the more notable costumes were the following:

Miss Belle Heilbronner, West Wayne street, drab silk, garnet ornaments.

Miss Agatha Lauferty, black velvet, diamond ornaments.

Miss Rebecca Rosenthal, white silk, pearl jewelry.

Miss Esther Myerson, bronze silk, gold ornaments.

Miss Belle Heilbronner, of West Main street, blue silk, pearl ornaments.

Miss Rothschild, of Terre Haute, pale blue silk, diamond ornaments.

Miss Linda Becker, black silk and velvet, pearl ornaments.

Mrs. Samuel Chaska, drab silk, jet ornaments.

Miss Amelia Wolfe, old gold and cardinal, turquoise ornaments.

The Standard Club is one of the leading social organizations of the city and its members know how to enjoy themselves.

TEA PARTY.

On last Saturday evening Mrs. C. L. Hill tendered a tea party to Dr. and Mrs. Sweringen, at her residence on Water street. It had just been fourteen years since their wedding day, and Mrs. S. thought it was a good time to wear her bridal dress, Father Time has dealt lightly with the Dr. and his wife, and Mrs. Sweringen of last Saturday was just as handsome as was Miss Ella Hanna fourteen years ago, and the Dr. says if he had it to do over again he should adopt the same course.

FRENCH CLUB.

The French Club held a very pleasant meeting last night at the residence of Mrs. F. W. Pond, on East Berry street. The ladies are becoming quite proficient and it is quite amusing to watch the young men who doesn't parlez vous Francais when he gets into the company of two or three of these French speaking ladies. One young man on West Berry street, has been trying to find out for a week, whether one of the fair ones called him most awfully splendid or most awfully stupid.

CONGREGATIONAL SOCIAL.

A large number of the First Congregational people got themselves into jail last night. Sheriff Munson took them in as fast as they came and "booked" them for a good time. As a host, Mr. Munson is a great deal better in a private than in a public capacity, for in the former instance he lets them go when they are ready, while in the latter he makes them stay whether they want to or not. Mr. Munson is a most genial host, and all present had a most enjoyable time.

GOOD TEMPLARS' SOCIAL.

One of the pleasantest events of the week was the social given by Amity Lodge I. O. G. T., at its hall on Clinton street, Thursday evening. There was a very large attendance, and among the attractions of the evening were vocal and instrumental music and the reading of a poem by Capt. Emery. The refreshments were delicious. A little dancing was indulged in by some of the younger folks. A series of similar socials is promised, extending through the winter season.

TRINITY CHURCH SOCIALS.

The ladies of Trinity Episcopal Church met on Wednesday afternoon and organized for the fall and winter campaign by electing the following officers: President, Mrs. F. H. McCulloch; vice-president, Mrs. E. L. Chittenden; treasurer, Miss Jessie Withers; secretary, Mrs. Chas. Hanna. This afternoon there is a business meeting at the vestry to arrange for socials for the winter.

HOME CLUB SOCIAL.

The Home Club (formerly the Bruinard) had a delightful time on Friday evening of last week, at the apartments of Dr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Long. Music and dancing occupied the evening, and sumptuous refreshments were served. The Home Club numbers among its members some of the best young people in the city.

OTHER EVENTS.

A jolly social reunion took place, last evening, at the Model Coffee House.

A soiree dansante took place last evening at Tommie Hunt's Spy Run acenue mansion.

A very pleasant social gathering was held, last night, at the suburban residence of N. B. Freeman, on Spy Run avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hance entertained a small company of friends at their residence on Water street, Wednesday evening.

Miss Sarah McDonald entertained a few friends last Wednesday evening in a very pleasant manner at her residence on West Water street.

Mrs. Mary Rothenuoth, of 160 East Wayne street, entertained a tea party of ten on Thursday evening in honor of Mrs. Thereso Crite, of Toledo.

Miss Cornelia Winget, of 114 Creighton avenue, celebrated her 20th birthday, Thursday evening by a social gathering at her house. The affair was a most delightful one in every respect.

Mr. and Mrs. Christian Koegel celebrated their silver wedding on Wednesday evening, at their residence corner of Broadway and Lavina street. A large number of guests were present, and Mr. and Mrs. K. received a good many handsome gifts.

The young folks had a grand time on Wednesday evening at the residence of Capt. Hettler. The company passed the hours in singing and sewing carpet rags. A large number of young tailors were present and directed the manipulations of the rags.

Miss Jennie Oppenheimer entertained a number of her friends last Sunday evening in honor of her 17th birthday. As Miss Jennie knows just how to treat her guests, a very pleasant time was had by all, who would be glad to attend one hundred just such birthday parties. She was also the recipient of several valuable presents.

An elaborate entertainment was given on the night succeeding Thanksgiving at Gormly Seminary, Newburgh, N. Y., in which one of Fort Wayne's young ladies participaetd, the same being Miss Hattie Chittenden. The exercises, consisting of music, declamations, tableaux, etc., were encored throughout by a large and thoroughly appreciative audience composed of the culture and literati of that city on the Hudson.

The residence of Mrs. T. J. Hammond, No. 40 McClellan street, was the scene of a joyful gathering last evening, it being in honor of Mrs. H.'s son Henry's birthday. A delicious supper was served, after which music, vocal and instrumental, interspersed with tripping the light fantastic, were indulged in until the early morning hour. The favored guests will ever remember the generous hospitality of Mrs. Hammond, and the hearty welcome of the boys—Jimmie and Henry.

CUPID'S CAPERS.

DOAK-HOLMES.

R. C. Holmes, of Pittsburgh, formerly of this city, was married on Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock, to Miss Lizzie Doak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Doak. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's parents, Lincoln avenue, Pittsburgh, the Rev. Wilbur Davidson, of Newton Falls, O., an intimate friend of the groom, officiating. Those present comprised only the relatives and immediate friends of the principals. The bride was richly attired in white satin, and the bridesmaid, Miss Mollie Holmes, in white silk. Mr. James Niell, of Pittsburgh, officiated as groomsman, and Messrs. Dora Holmes and —— Doakas ushers. The happy couple occupied positions under a floral horse shoe, an omen of future good fortune which all will hope may be justified by the career of the happy pair. After the ceremony the heartiest congratulations of all were extended to Mr. and Mrs. Holmes for the largest degree of happiness in their new relations. An elaborate and sumptuous entertainment was then served, and at 7 p. m. the newly wedded couple departed for New York, Washington, Philadelphia and other eastern cities, expecting to be absent about ten days. Upon their return they will occupy, temporarily, elegant apartments at the East End Hotel, Pittsburgh. It remains but to refer to the wedding presents, which were very numerous and extremely elegant and costly. Mr. Holmes's many friends in this city wish him and his charming bride the largest measure of happiness.

MADISON-AMES.

One of the most brilliant events of the season was the marriage of Benson C. Ames and Eliza A. Madison, which occurred at the spacious residence of the bride's parents, No. 148 Wallace street, on last Wednesday evening. Notwithstanding the fact that it was to be a quiet affair, the many friends of the high contracting parties gathered together to witness the marriage ceremony. At 8 o'clock, as the wedding march pealed forth from the upright grand piano, which was presided over by Prof. Wellenstein, the bridal party entered the parlor, where Rev. W. B. Minton performed the ceremony according to the rites of the Presbyterian Church. The attendants were Val. Gutermuth and Miss Mary E. Poyser. A sumptuous repast was served, and partaken of by the guests, after which a very pleasant evening was spent in conversation and listening to the music furnished by Prof. Wellenstein, Miss Nellie Hattersley, Miss Georgia Saunders and Mrs. Hartzell, of New Haven. Wilton H. Hartman, traveling salesman for Rogers, Lewis & Co., contemplates doing it about the holidays. His affianced is a handsome brunette of Chicago, by the name of Miss Inez Brown. This city will be their permanent residence.

The matrimonial market reports have just arrived. Old maids are quoted quiet but firm (in the determination to hitch alongside the first offer). Young widows are active (in the endeavor to ascertain which of their numerous offers is the best). Middle aged widows are in good demand and fairly active. Pretty girl graduates are quoted high and but few sellers. High school girls are still quoted as advancing, and demand moderately active. All branches of the market show a big demand for holiday delivery.

A lady writes to the SENTINEL: "We ladies all affirm that the 'Society Column' is perfectly splendid; only please don't spoil it with scandal."

The society editor of the SENTINEL desires to return thanks for the assistance rendered him by the many lady and gentlemen subscribers in the preparation of this department of the SENTINEL. Information is solicited as to parties, balls, receptions, personal movements, etc., past, present and prospective. No scandal, personal abuse or poetry is desired. It is proposed to make this department attractive and interesting to all, and not to wound any person's feelings or injure any one's reputation.

Two of the popular employes of the Pittsburgh blacksmith shops attended a select party, a few nights since, and became deeply interested in the state of the solar system. They accordingly made numerous astronomical observations, in default of a telescope using beer glasses for the purpose. The result was that they got comparatively full of knowledge and beer—mostly the latter—and when time began rushing around toward the next day they homeward strolled and rolled; at any rate, they got home, getting to bed in due season by a successful feat of engineering, when lo! what object was that staring at them with glistening eyeballs from which ever and anon sparks of fire were emitted in showers. It appeared to their excited imagination like the ghostly spectre of a departed monkey "sitting right above the chamber door." The ghostly spectacle remained until, overcome by fear, their fright screamed out as in mortal agony, and their father, hearing the noise, came quickly to their relief, bringing a light with him. As soon as he entered the room he reached up and caught a pet bantam chicken which had taken up its roost there and took it down stairs, after which the boys slept in peace.

"NOT JUST YET."

To the Society Editor of the SENTINEL:

An item occurred in last week's society column stating that the queen of Gooseville would shortly be married to the popular tool carrier of the Pittsburgh shop. Now, I wish to state that this is a sad mistake. I intend to marry no person—not just yet—and the above item was doubtless furnished by the popular (?) door hooster of the same shop, who sought to unload himself of a little jealousy in that manner. QUEEN OF GOOSEVILLE.

SUNSHINE.

Little fairy bright and airy,
With thy cheeks aglow;
Chasing butterflies in gladness
Where the lilies blow.

Culling here and there a blossom,
On thy happy way;
Little heeding the to-morrow,
Singing all the day.

May thy life be ever pleasant,
From dark sorrow free;
May thy brightest, sweetest roses
Ever bloom from thee.

Thrilling birds and fair sweet blossoms
On each branch and tree,
Brightest sunshine o'er thy pathway,
This we ask for thee.

And when life's sweet day is over,
And the fading sun
Pales and shuts in purple shadows,
May thy work be done.

The Birthday Reception of a Young Man Worth $2,000,000—Col. Colt's Son.

[Correspondence New York Sun.]

Hartford, Nov. 23.—When Col. Samuel Colt started life in Hartford it was with poverty staring him in the face, but possessing a strong inventive faculty, he put it to good use and succeeded in making for himself a reputation throughout the civilized world through the sale of his revolvers, and a great fortune. At 46, when he died, he had won great honors as an inventor and manufacturer, and his estate was worth over five millions.

Col. Colt led a bachelor life for several years, and had rooms in the old Union Hall building here, which were the resort of the club men of the town. No one supposed he would ever marry, but a lovely lady in Middletown captivated him and he set about winning her. It was not an easy task. Her father, Rev. Dr. Jarvis, of the Protestant Episcopal Church, was not at first favorably disposed to the union, considering the colonel a little too much given to the ways of the world; but the colonel himself was equal to the emergency, and probably never put his inventive faculties to better service. Not long after Col. Colt led Miss Elizabeth H. Jarvis to the altar, the wedding being the most brilliant one the people of Middletown had withessed. The bridal party left on a special train for New York, and in a few weeks the colonel and his bride returned to Hartford to occupy the splendid mansion which he had provided.

Three children were born to Col. Colt, but only one survived him. This one is Mr. Caldwell H. Colt, who became 21 years of age yesterday, and the occasion was made conspicuous by a magnificent party gathering given in his honor by his esteemed mother. More than one thousand invitations were sent out, and guests were here from New York, Boston, and other centres. Hartford ladies have been busy for a month preparing for it. The young man, on his birthday, comes into possession of great wealth, a moderate estimate placing it at two millions of dollars, to which in the future, if he lives, will be added further portions of the estate—now set apart for the life use of Mrs. Colt. He is a youth of generous disposition, fond of sports, and will be apt to enjoy his money instead of being recklessly prodigal of it. His first entrance to society was at Newport this season, where he figured somewhat prominently with liveried footman and driver. Guests began to arrive at the Colt mansion at 8½ o'clock this evening, and the throng poured in for an hour after, every public carriage in Hartford being engaged to convey people who were favored with invitations. Mrs. Colt has given the largest parties of any one in this city for several years, but none equal to this with the exception of her grand reception tendered on the occasion of the marriage of her only sister, Hettie, to Mr. C. Nichols Bench a few years ago. The floral decorations to-night are very extensive and beautiful. Upon entering, the visitor was attracted by the coverings of the stairways and newel posts with flowers and vines, and the scene presented in all the rooms was in keeping with this hall display. Over the doors to the library and parlors were beautiful arches of flowers and evergreens. The parlor mantels were heavily banked with choice cut flowers, and from the brilliant chandeliers hung festoons of smilax extending to the ceiling. The conservatory attached to the house was finely illuminated. Around many of the rooms were scattered rich floral designs, conspicuous among which were horseshoes, for good luck, and cornucopias with basket bouquets, etc. The substantial supper table was set in the regular dining room. Among the chief ornaments of this table were three magnificent solid silver epergnes filled with tropical fruits. The dresses of the party were very brilliant, white predominating, with attachments of flowers, and the display of diamonds was very rare. Music was furnished by Colt's Armory Band, and for dancing by Atkins's orchestra. A feature of the occasion was the introduction of the singing quadrille. In this ladies appeared in novel costumes, and gentlemen in dress coats faced with red and blue satin and buttons to match. The music consisted of "Bay Rhythms," and wassung to melodies from "Mother Goose" by the dancers.

It is said to-night that Mr. Caldwell Colt is to receive a fortune independent of that left by his father's will, the story being that when the boy was a babe Col. Colt, largely engaged in manufacturing arms in England, invested a half million dollars in British consols at three percent and railway securities bearing four percent, those investments being in the son's name. As guardian, the mother has invested the income of this separate fortune, which it is said amounts, with the principal, to about a million dollars.

Socials, Parties, Balls, etc., Make the Week a Merry One---Personalities and Generalities.

REVIEW OF THE WEEK.

Cupid having taken a short rest from his arduous labors, society people have this week taken more kindly to other festivities. The matrimonial fever has not raged so fiercely this week as last, but a relapse will occur soon. The notable events of the week have been the party at J. B. White's, Thursday, the Alert ball and the West End and Standard Clubs' meetings.

A BRILLIANT AFFAIR.

The most brilliant social event of the week was a dress party, on Thursday evening, at the residence of Capt. J. B. White, No. 60 Barr street, Mr. John White and his sister doing the honors as host and hostess. A large number of invitations were issued, confined to the creme de la creme of younger society in Fort Wayne. All the appointments of the affair were elegant and in good taste. The young ladies were dressed in a most handsome and becoming manner and never looked lovelier. The refreshments were superb. Among those present were Miss America Hoagland, the Misses Edgerton, the Misses Bourie, Miss Nellie Angell, Miss Connie Davis of Santa Fe, Miss Jesse Hanna, Miss Kate Freeman, Miss Flora Orff, the Misses Hill, Miss Mary Randall, Miss Jessie Withers, Messrs. Edgerton, Orff, Hoagland, Thieme, Bash, Pickard, McKinnie, Rockhill, Emerick, Morris, Miller, Oppenheim, Freeman, and a great many others whose names were not learned. The music was furnished by Profs. Wellenstein and Schultz, and the waltzes, quadrilles and Germans were indulged in until the wee sma' hours.

WEST END CLUB.

Judge Huestis and wife and Chas. Huestis and wife united last night in entertaining the West End Club at their elegant mansions on West Berry street. Nearly every member of the club was present, and the affair was a most brilliant and enjoyable one in every respect. The Messrs. Huestis and their wives left nothing undone to contribute to the pleasure of their guests. The Sinn brothers furnished the music, which was excellent. The following is a complete list of the members of the club: Mr. and Mrs. K. H. Wade, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Huestis, Judge and Mrs. Robert Lowry, Col. and Mrs. R. S. Robertson, Gen. and Mrs. Frank Case of Denver, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Woodworth, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. D. Crane, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ellison, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Jenkinson, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Woodworth, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Case, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Brenton, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Woodworth, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Huestis, Misses Emma Jenkinson, Annie Lowry, Nellie Brenton, Laura and Alida Woodworth, Alice Wilson, Miss Ellison, Messrs. Hillegass, Harper, Alden, Stephen Morris, Bash, Nolton and Spencer.

THE ALERT BALL.

The Alert ball on Thursday night was a pronounced success. The crowd was a large but eminently respectable one, and the ball was universally pronounced one of the finest affairs of the kind ever given in the city. Reinecke's orchestra furnished the music, which was excellent. A list of the guests would fill a column in the SENTINEL. It is only necessary to say in addition to what has already been said in these columns, that the Alerts have never yet made a failure of anything they undertook, and the affair of Thursday night only added to their well-earned reputation.

STANDARD CLUB HOP.

The Standard Club gave another party at their hall in Foster Brothers' block on Court street Thursday evening, and it was a most delightful affair. The ladies belonging to the Standard Club are noted for their personal beauty and rich dressing, and on Thursday evening they looked "perfectly lovely." Among the more notable costumes were the following:

Miss Belle Heilbronner, West Wayne street, drab silk, garnet ornaments.

Miss Agatha Lauferty, black velvet, diamond ornaments.

Miss Rebecca Rosenthal, wine silk, pearl jewelry.

Miss Esther Myerson, bronze silk, gold ornaments.

Miss Jennie Heilbronner, of West Main street, blue silk, pearl ornaments.

Miss Rothschild, of Terre Haute, pale blue silk, diamond ornaments.

Miss Linda Becker, black silk and velvet, pearl ornaments.

Mrs. Samuel Chaska, drab silk, jet ornaments.

Miss Amelia Wolfe, old gold and cardinal, turquoise ornaments.

The Standard Club is one of the leading social organizations of the city and its members know how to enjoy themselves.

TEA PARTY.

On last Saturday evening Mrs. C. L. Hill tendered a tea party to Dr. and Mrs. Sweringen, at her residence on Water street. It had just been fourteen years since their wedding day, and Mrs. S. thought it was a good time to wear her bridal dress. Father Time has dealt lightly with the Dr. and his wife, and Mrs. Sweringen of last Saturday was just as handsome as was Miss Ella Hanna fourteen years ago, and the Dr. says if he had it to do over again he should adopt the same course.

FRENCH CLUB.

The French Club held a very pleasant meeting last night at the residence of Mrs. F. W. Pond, on East Berry street. The ladies are becoming quite proficient and it is quite amusing to watch the young men who doesn't parlez voux Francais when he gets into the company of two or three of these French speaking ladies. One young man on West Berry street, has been trying to find out for a week, whether one of the fair ones called him most awfully splendid or most awfully stupid.

CONGREGATIONAL SOCIAL.

A large number of the First Congregational people got themselves into jail last night. Sheriff Munson took them in as fast as they came and "booked" them for a good time. As a host, Mr. Munson is a great deal better in a private than in a public capacity, for in the former instance he lets them go when they are ready, while in the latter he makes them stay whether they want to or not. Mr. Munson is a most genial host, and all present had a most enjoyable time.

GOOD TEMPLARS' SOCIAL.

One of the pleasantest events of the week was the social given by Amity Lodge I. O. G. T., at its hall on Clinton street, Thursday evening. There was a very large attendance, and among the attractions of the evening were vocal and instrumental music and the reading of a poem by Capt. Emery. The refreshments were delicious. A little dancing was indulged in by some of the younger folks. A series of similar socials is promised, extending through the winter season.

TRINITY CHURCH SOCIALS.

The ladies of Trinity Episcopal Church met on Wednesday afternoon and organized for the fall and winter campaign by electing the following officers: President, Mrs. F. H. McCulloch; vice-president, Mrs. E. L. Chittenden; treasurer, Miss Jessie Withers; secretary, Mrs. Chas. Hanna. This afternoon there is a business meeting at the vestry to arrange for socials for the winter.

HOME CLUB SOCIAL.

The Home Club (formerly the Brainard) had a delightful time on Friday evening of last week, at the apartments of Dr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Loag. Music and dancing occupied the evening, and sumptuous refreshments were served. The Home Club numbers among its members some of the best young people in the city.

OTHER EVENTS.

A jolly social reunion took place, last evening, at the Model Coffee House.

A soiree dansante took place last evening at Tommie Hunt's Spy Run acenue mansion.

A very pleasant social gathering was held, last night, at the suburban residence of N. B. Freeman, on Spy Run avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hance entertained a small company of friends at their residence on Water street, Wednesday evening.

Miss Sarah McDonald entertained a few friends last Wednesday evening in a very pleasant manner at her residence on West Water street.

Mrs. Mary Rothefluoth, of 160 Dast Wayne street, entertained a tea party of ten on Thursday evening in honor of Mrs. Thereso Crite, of Toledo.

Miss Cornelia Winget, of 114 Creighton avenue, celebrated her 20th birthday, Thursday evening by a social gathering at her house. The affair was a most delightful one in every respect.

Mr. and Mrs. Christian Koegel celebrated their silver wedding on Wednesday evening, at their residence corner of Broadway and Lavina street. A large number of guests were present, and Mr. and Mrs. K. received a good many handsome gifts.

The young folks had a grand time on Wednesday evening at the residence of Capt. Hettler. The company passed the hours in singing and sewing carpet rags. A large number of young tailors were present and directed the manipulations of the rags.

Miss Jennie Oppenheimer entertained a number of her friends last Sunday evening in honor of her 17th birthday. As Miss Jennie knows just how to treat her guests, a very pleasant time was had by all, who would be glad to attend one hundred just such birthday parties. She was also the recipient of several valuable presents.

An elaborate entertainment was given on the night succeeding Thanksgiving at Gormly Seminary, Newburgh, N. Y., in which one of Fort Wayne's young ladies participaetd, the same being Miss Hattie Chittenden. The exercises, consisting of music, declamations, tableaux, etc., were encored throughout by a large and thoroughly appreciative audience composed of the culture and literati of that city on the Hudson.

The residence of Mrs. T. J. Hammond, No. 40 McClellan street, was the scene of a joyful gathering last evening, it being in honor of Mrs. H.'s son Henry's birthday. A delicious supper was served, after which music, vocal and instrumental, interspersed with tripping the light fantastic, were indulged in until the early morning hour. The favored guests will ever remember the generous hospitality of Mrs. Hammond, and the hearty welcome of the boys—Jimmie and Henry.

CUPID'S CAPERS.

DOAK-HOLMES.

R. C. Holmes, of Pittsburgh, formerly of this city, was married on Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock, to Miss Lizzie Doak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Doak. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's parents, Lincoln avenue, Pittsburgh, the Rev. Wilbur Davidson, of Newton Falls, O., an intimate friend of the groom, officiating. Those present comprised only the relatives and immediate friends of the principals. The bride was richly attired in white satin, and the bridesmaid, Miss Mollie Holmes, in white silk. Mr. James Niell, of Pittsburgh, officiated as groomsman, and Messrs. Dora Holmes and —— Doakas ushers. The happy couple occupied positions under a floral horse shoe, an omen of future good fortune which all will hope may be justified by the career of the happy pair. After the ceremony the heartiest congratulations of all were extended to Mr. and Mrs. Holmes for the largest degree of happiness in their new relations. An elaborate and sumptuous entertainment was then served, and at 7 p. m. the newly wedded couple departed for New York, Washington, Philadelphia and other eastern cities, expecting to be absent about ten days. Upon their return they will occupy, temporarily, elegant apartments at the East End Hotel, Pittsburgh. It remains but to refer to the wedding presents, which were very numerous and extremely elegant and costly. Mr. Holmes's many friends in this city wish him and his charming bride the largest measure of happiness.

MADISON-AMES.

One of the most brilliant events of the season was the marriage of Benson C. Ames and Eliza A. Madison, which occurred at the spacious residence of the bride's parents, No. 148 Wallace street, on last Wednesday evening. Notwithstanding the fact that it was to be a quiet affair, the many friends of the high contracting parties gathered together to witness the marriage ceremony. At 8 o'clock, as the wedding march pealed forth from the upright grand piano, which was presided over by Prof. Wellenstein, the bridal party entered the parlor, where Rev. W. B. Minton performed the ceremony according to the rites of the Presbyterian Church. The attendants were Val. Gutermuth and Miss Mary E. Poyser. A sumptuous repast was served, and partaken of by the guests, after which a very pleasant evening was spent in conversation and listening to the music furnished by Prof. Wellenstein, Miss Nellie Hattersley, Miss Georgia Saunders and Mrs. Hartzell, of New Haven. The happy couple left on the 11.55 train for an extended wedding tour. The following is the list of

A lady writes to the SENTINEL: "We ladies all affirm that the 'Society Column' is perfectly splendid; only please don't spoil it with scandal."

The society editor of the SENTINEL desires to return thanks for the assistance rendered him by the many lady and gentlemen subscribers in the preparation of this department of the SENTINEL. Information is solicited as to parties, balls, receptions, personal movements, etc., past, present and prospective. No scandal, personal abuse or poetry is desired. It is proposed to make this department attractive and interesting to all, and not to wound any person's feelings or injure any one's reputation.

Two of the popular employes of the Pittsburgh blacksmith shops attended a select party, a few nights since, and became deeply interested in the state of the solar system. They accordingly made numerous astronomical observations, in default of a telescope using beer glasses for the purpose. The result was that they got comparatively full of knowledge and beer—mostly the latter—and when time began rushing around toward the next day they homeward strolled and rolled; at any rate, they got home, getting to bed in due season by a successful feat of engineering, when lo! what object was that staring at them with glistening eyeballs from which ever and anon sparks of fire were emitted in showers. It appeared to their excited imagination like the ghostly spectre of a departed monkey "sitting right above the chamber door." The ghostly spectacle remained until, overcome by fear, their fright screamed out as in mortal agony, and their father, hearing the noise, came quickly to their relief, bringing a light with him. As soon as he entered the room he reached up and caught a pet bantam chicken which had taken up its roost there and took it down stairs, after which the boys slept in peace.

"NOT JUST YET."

To the Society Editor of the SENTINEL:

An item occurred in last week's society column stating that the queen of Gooseville would shortly be married to the popular tool carrier of the Pittsburgh shop. Now, I wish to state that this is a sad mistake. I intend to marry no person—not just yet—and the above item was doubtless furnished by the popular (?) door booster of the same shop, who sought to unload himself of a little jealousy in that manner. QUEEN OF GOOSEVILLE.

SUNSHINE.

Little fairy bright and airy,
With thy cheeks aglow;
Chasing butterflies in gladness
Where the lillies blow.

Culling here and there a blossom,
On thy happy way;
Little heeding the to-morrow,
Singing all the day.

May thy life be ever pleasant,
From dark sorrow free;
May thy brightest, sweetest roses
Ever bloom from thee.

Thrilling birds and fair sweet blossoms
On each branch and tree,
Brightest sunshine o'er thy pathway,
This we ask for thee.

And when life's sweet day is over,
And the fading sun
Pales and sinks in purple shadows,
May thy work be done.

A MAGNIFICENT PARTY.

The Birthday Reception of a Young Man Worth $2,000,000---Col. Colt's Son.

[Correspondence New York Sun.]

Hartford, Nov. 23.—When Col. Samuel Colt started life in Hartford it was with poverty staring him in the face, but possessing a strong inventive faculty, he put it to good use and succeeded in making for himself a reputation throughout the civilized world through the sale of his revolvers, and a great fortune. At 46, when he died, he had won great honors as an inventor and manufacturer, and his estate was worth over five millions.

Col. Colt led a bachelor life for several years, and had rooms in the old Union Hall building here, which were the resort of the club men of the town. No one supposed he would ever marry, but a lovely lady in Middletown captivated him and he set about winning her. It was not an easy task. Her father, Rev. Dr. Jarvis, of the Protestant Episcopal Church, was not at first favorably disposed to the union, considering the colonel a little too much given to the ways of the world; but the colonel himself was equal to the emergency, and probably never put his inventive faculties to better service. Not long after Col. Colt led Miss Elizabeth H. Jarvis to the altar, the wedding being the most brilliant one the people of Middletown had witnessed. The bridal party left on a special train for New York, and in a few weeks the colonel and his bride returned to Hartford to occupy the splendid mansion which he had provided.

Three children were born to Col. Colt, but only one survived him. This one is Mr. Caldwell H. Colt, who became 21 years of age yesterday, and the occasion was made conspicuous by a magnificent party gathering given in his honor by his esteemed mother. More than one thousand invitations were sent out, and guests were here from New York, Boston, and other centres. Hartford ladies have been busy for a month preparing for it. The young man, on his birthday, comes into possession of great wealth, a moderate estimate placing it at two millions of dollars, to which in the future, if he lives, will be added further portions of the estate—now set apart for the life use of Mrs. Colt. He is a youth of generous disposition, fond of sports, and will be apt to enjoy his money instead of being recklessly prodigal of it. His first entrance to society was at Newport this season, where he figured somewhat prominently with liveried footman and driver. Guests began to arrive at the Colt mansion at 8½ o'clock this evening, and the throng poured in for an hour after, every public carriage in Hartford being engaged to convey people who were favored with invitations. Mrs. Colt has given the largest parties of any one in this city for several years, but none equal to this with the exception of her grand reception tendered on the occasion of the marriage of her only sister, Hettie, to Mr. C. Nichols Beach a few years ago. The floral decorations to-night are very extensive and beautiful. Upon entering, the visitor was attracted by the coverings of the stairways and newel posts with flowers and vines, and the scene presented in all the rooms was in keeping with this hall display. Over the doors to the library and parlors were beautiful arches of flowers and evergreens. The parlor mantels were heavily banked with choice cut flowers, and from the brilliant chandeliers hung festoons of smilax extending to the ceiling. The conservatory attached to the house was finely illuminated. Around many of the rooms were scattered rich floral designs, conspicuous among which were horseshoes, for good luck, and cornucopias with basket bouquets, etc. The substantial supper table was set in the regular dining room. Among the chief ornaments of this table were three magnificent solid silver epergnes filled with tropical fruits. The dresses of the party were very brilliant, white predominating, with attachments of flowers, and the display of diamonds was very rare. Music was furnished by Colt's Armory Band, and for dancing by Atkins's orchestra. A feature of the occasion was the introduction of the singing quadrille. In this ladies appeared in novel costumes, and gentlemen in dress coats faced with red and blue satin and buttons to match. The music consisted of "Bay Rhythms," and was sung to melodies from "Mother Goose" by the dancers.

It is said to-night that Mr. Caldwell Colt is to receive a fortune independent of that left by his father's will, the story being that when the boy was a babe Col. Colt, largely engaged in manufacturing arms in England, invested a half million dollars in British consols at three percent and railway securities bearing four percent, these investments being in the son's name. As guardian, the mother has invested the income of this separate fortune, which it is said amounts, with the principal, to about a million dollars.

A dispatch from Peoria says:

Articles of incorporation of the Toledo, Wabash and Western Railway Company were filed in the recorder's office to-day. The capital stock of the company is $4,000,000, divided into $100 shares. The object of the new corporation is to purchase the Toledo, Peoria and Warsaw Railway, which is soon to be sold under foreclosure of a mortgage. The road runs from a point in Iroquois county to Warsaw, on the Mississippi River. The incorporators are John Crerar, J. McGregor Adams, Alexander J. Leith, J. Hall Dow and A. L. Hopkins, all of Chicago. The principal offices are to be retained in this city.

Logansport Pharos: It is said that the New York Central and Wabash roads will be practically one institution, with a common interest, and the purchase of Vanderbilt stock in the Central was made in order that the Wabash might have a line to the seaboard.——The Wabash, St. Louis and Pacific will have to pay yearly $40,000,000 interest on debt, preferred and common stock. Can it do so? is a leading question.

The Detroit Free Press has the following regarding the Fort Wayne, Jackson and Saginaw Railroad:

James F. Joy, acting for the purchasing committee, R. G. Ralton and R. G. Clarke, of New York, has bought in the Fort Wayne, Jackson and Saginaw Railroad, paying therefo $25,000. The bounded debt of the road, amounting to $2,000,000 with heavy arrears of interest, will be converted into stock and absorbed by the bondholders. A reorganization of the company is to take place. Moses Taylor and others of Mr. Joy's associates are the controlling owners. The road is understood to be in the market for a purchaser, and the probabilities are that a sale will soon be negotiated.

Indianapolis Journal: Within a few days past the freight business of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago road has increased heavily out of Chicago, while business over the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern road has fallen off. Some persons account for it upon the theory that Vanderbilt's alliance with Gould has aroused the opposition of the roads west of Chicago, and that they have commenced to throw their business over the Pennsylvania lines and the Baltimore and Ohio, as the business of the latter road has as well increased considerably.

JOHN AND JOHANNA.

They Loved Each Other in an Improper Way.

And Now of Course There's the D—l to Pay.

John Smith was in trouble, or rather in glory, and Johanna Cook was in trouble without much glory. Johanna's trouble was due largely to John, and John's glory and trouble were due largely to Johanna, so it was a sort of a reciprocal affair. It was a case of shadows—that is, coming shadows cast their events before,—or words to that effect. John loved Johanna and loved her muchly and Johanna felt the same way. This was long ago and was at Decatur. They couldn't love each other hard enough and so they got up a scheme to divide their love upon a third party, that party isn't here yet, but prima facie evidence corroborated by Johanna's statement, points out the fact that it soon will be here. John had promised to marry Johanna, but somehow did not come up to the scratch according to Hoyle, and as business was getting pressing, yesterday Johanna got out a warrant for John's arrest on a charge of bastardy, which warrant was placed in the hands of Constable Railling, who skipped out for Decatur and came back last night with John in charge. John is more than a foot high—but not much—and is about 18 years old. He was taken to Pratt's court, where John's prospective mother-in-law, his prospective bride and his prospective mother-in-law's prospective grandchild were all waiting to greet him. Negotiations were opened, and were concluded by John promising to marry Johanna this afternoon at 4 o'clock, provided his father's consent can be procured. As stated before, Johanna is willin', Mrs. Smith is willin', John is tolerably willin', and Barkis being willin' they will be joined.

Mrs. Smith lives at 287 Lafayette street.

ON HIS MUSCLE.

The Proprietor of the Olympic Thumps One of His Actors.

William Earle, one of the Olympic proprietors, and W. A. Brooks, an actor at the same place, had a little difficulty in the post office alley last evening, in which Mr. Brooks got pretty severely thumped by Mr. Earle.

The difficulty was owing to the fact that Mr. Earle had just learned that Brooks had attempted to take improper liberties and made indecent proposals to his (Earle's) daughter, which so incensed him that he chastised Brooks by thumping him as above stated.

Brooks refused to file an affidavit or appear against Earle, and if the above statement is true, it is the best course for him to pursue. Neither can Mr. Earle be condemed for his action in championing his daughter's virtue.

A Puff for Graham.

The Michigan City Dispatch gives Geo. Graham this handsome notice:

George Graham, an ex-convict and noted horse thief and forger, and later a prominent temperance lecturer, arrived here Saturday from Fort Wayne, and of course made the prison a call. The manner in which he circulated his "holy" taffy was truly wonderful. He dwelt on morals, temperance and religion, and was at the same time a fugitive from justice, having just forged the name of a reputable firm of Fort Wayne. This is the same scoundrel, thief and dead-beat who recently sued the Fort Wayne SENTINEL for libel. The same bird who, after his time expired, attempted to slander Warden Mayne by publishing an attack on the prison management in one of the Fort Wayne papers.

Leach; stewards, John Lehr and O. T. Thomas; tyler, Wm. Knight; trustees, W. W. Fisk, Wm. Knight and Thomas C. Smith.

Wm. Higgins who yesterday unequivocally agreed to pull out for Germany, did not get any further than the depot where he succumbed to the heat and was taken over the river on a mittimus issued yesterday.

Henry Wiedbrank was up. To-day he was up at police court. Yesterday he was up in the nose, so to speak and made some very unseemly demonstrations at the funeral of Wm. Kanning. He was sent over the canal this morning for twenty days, to reflect on his conduct, the charge being modified to disorderly conduct.

Frank Mitchel for budging too much was taxed $3.00.

At a recent wedding our delivery wagon went eight times in one day to deliver presents bought for the bride at our establishment.

As we keep almost everything suitable for Wedding Gifts in Dry Goods, Furniture, Silver Ware, Toilet Sets, etc., our Store has become a specially favorite place for making selections of this kind.

We have therefore had designed and printed some Elegant gant Tinted Cards, to attach to such Gifts, "with the best wishes of" the donor; blank spaces being left for the insertion of names.

The same Cards, with silk ribbon strings attached, will be at the disposal of those who wish to tie them to Holiday Presents bought of us.

The giving of Holiday Gifts this year promises to be almost universal, and we have, therefore, made extraordinary preparations for meeting the demands of our people.

In many departments the display we make exceeds anything ever attempted in Fort Wayne. This is notably true of our Furniture and Fancy Goods stock, as, for instance, in Camp, Rattan and Easy Chairs we are displaying by actual count over different patterns and styles. But notwithstanding this fact, our sales of Holiday Furniture are already so large that we are fearful we shall not be able to supply the demand, and it is now too late to order more goods, as the manufacturers are so driven that goods cannot be obtained under 60 days from the date on which the order is given.

THREE HUNDRED

A dispatch from Peoria says:

Articles of incorporation of the Toledo, Wabash and Western Railway Company were filed in the recorder's office to-day. The capital stock of the company is $3,000,000, divided into $100 shares. The object of the new corporation is to purchase the Toledo, Peoria and Warsaw Railway, which is soon to be sold under foreclosure of a mortgage. The road runs from a point in Iroquois county to Warsaw, on the Mississippi River. The incorporaters are John Crerar, J. McGregor Adams, Alexander J. Leith, J. Hall Dow and A. L. Hopkins, all of Chicago. The principal offices are to be retained in this city.

Logansport Pharos: It is said that the New York Central and Wabash roads will be practically one institution, with a common interest, and the purchase of Vanderbilt stock in the Central was made in order that the Wabash might have a line to the seaboard.——The Wabash, St. Louis and Pacific will have to pay yearly $40,000,000 interest on debt, preferred and common stock. Can it do so? is a leading question.

The Detroit Free Press has the following regaading the Fort Wayne, Jackson and Saginaw Railroad:

James F. Joy, acting for the purchasing committee, R. G. Ralton and B. G. Clarke, of New York, has bought in the Fort Wayne, Jackson and Saginaw Railroad, paying thereto $25,000. The bounded debt of the road, amounting to $2,000,000 with heavy arrears of interest, will be converted into stock and absorbed by the bondholders. A reorganization of the company is to take place. Moses Taylor and others of Mr. Joy's associates are the controlling owners. The road is understood to be in the market for a purchaser, and the probabilities are that a sale will soon be negotiated.

Indianapolis Journal: Within a few days past the freight business of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago road has increased heavily out of Chicago, while business over the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern road has fallen off. Some persons account for it upon the theory that Vanderbilt's alliance with Gould has aroused the opposition of the roads west of Chicago, and that they have commenced to throw their business over the Pennsylvania lines and the Baltimore and Ohio, as the business of the latter road has as well increased considerably.

Meeting of Soldiers.

Pursuant to a call, a meeting of soldiers was held at Col. Zollinger's office last evening to arrange to attend the soldiers' reunion and Grant reception at Indianapolis, December 9th.

On motion, Col. R. S. Robertson was called to the chair and Lieut. Robert Stratton was made secretary.

The meeting decided that soldiers and citizens from here should go as a body, and upon discussion of the different routes it was decided to go by the Wabash and Peru route, and leave Fort Wayne at 4:10 p. m. Monday, December 8th.

On motion of Capt. Harper, the meeting appointed Col. Zollinger to command the delegation, and the commissary department was unanimously given in charge of Sergt. S. B Sweet.

Col. Humphrey will have his squad of "Mexican Veterans" on hand a la Chicago.

The secretary was instructed to secure rooms for the delegation at Indianapolis. It is understood there will be about 160 go from this city.

The meeting adjourned to meet at the train, 4 p. m., December 8th.

JOHN AND JOHANNA.

They Loved Each Other in an Improper Way.

And Now of Course There's the D—l to Pay.

John Smith was in trouble, or rather in glory, and Johanna Cook was in trouble without much glory. Johanna's trouble was due largely to John, and John's glory and trouble were due largely to Johanna, so it was a sort of a reciprocal affair. It was a case of shadows—that is, coming shadows cast their events before,—or words to that effect. John loved Johanna and loved her muchly and Johanna felt the same way. This was long ago and was at Decatur. They couldn't love each other hard enough and so they got up a scheme to divide their love upon a third party, that party isn't here yet, but prima facie evidence corroborated by Johanna's statement, points out the fact that it soon will be here. John had promised to marry Johanna, but somehow did not come up to the scratch according to Hoyle, and as business was getting pressing, yesterday Johanna got out a warrant for John's arrest on a charge of bastardy, which warrant was placed in the hands of Constable Railling, who skipped out for Decatur and came back last night with John in charge John is more than a foot high—but not much—and is about 18 years old. He was taken to Pratt's court, where John's prospective mother-in-law, his prospective bride and his prospective mother-in-law's prospective grandchild were all waiting to greet him. Negotiations were opened, and were concluded by John promising to marry Johanna this afternoon at 4 o'clock, provided his father's consent can be procured. As stated before, Johanna is willin', Mrs. Smith is willin', John is tolerably willin', and Barkis being willin' they will be joined.

Mrs. Smith lives at 287 Lafayette street.

ON HIS MUSCLE.

The Proprietor of the Olympic Thumps One of His Actors.

William Earle, one of the Olympic proprietors, and W. A. Brooks, an actor at the same place, had a little difficulty in the post office alley last evening, in which Mr. Brooks got pretty severely thumped by Mr. Earle.

The difficulty was owing to the fact that Mr. Earle had just learned that Brooks had attempted to take improper liberties and made indecent proposals to his (Earle's) daughter, which so incensed him that he chastised Brooks by thumping him as above stated.

Brooks refused to file an affidavit or appear against Earle, and if the above statement is true, it is the best course for him to pursue. Neither can Mr. Earle be condemed for his action in championing his daughter's virtue.

A Puff for Graham.

The Michigan City Dispatch gives Geo. Graham this handsome notice:

George Graham, an ex-convict and noted horse thief and forger, and later a prominent temperance lecturer, arrived here Saturday from Fort Wayne, and of course made the prison a call. The manner in which he circulated his "holy" taffy was truly wonderful. He dwelt on morals, temperance and religion, and was at the same time a fugitive from justice, having just forged the name of a reputable firm of Fort Wayne. This is the same scoundrel, thief and dead-beat who recently sued the Fort Wayne SENTINEL for libel. The same bird we, after his time expired, attempted to slander Warden Mayne by publishing an attack on the prison management in one of the Fort Wayne papers.

Election of Officers.

Summit City Lodge No. 170, F. and A. M., elected the following officers at their annual election, held last evening:

Leach; stewards, John Lehr and O. T Thomas; tyler, Wm. Knight; trustees, W. W. Fisk, Wm. Knight and Thomas C. Smith.

BAD BOYS AND GAY GIRLS.

A Motley Crowd of Tough Characters Before the Mayor.

John Meyers was up at police court this morning. Yesterday he was drunk. The mayor generously gave him fifteen days in the county jail on bread and water.

Wm. Higgins who yesterday unequivocally agreed to pull out for Germany, did not get any further than the depot where he succumbed to the heat and was taken over the river on a mittimus issued yesterday.

Henry Wiedbrank was up. To-day he was up at police court. Yesterday he was up in the nose, so to speak and made some very unseemly demonstrations at the funeral of Wm. Kanning. He was sent over the canal this morning for twenty days, to reflect on his conduct, the charge being modified to disorderly conduct.

Frank Mitchel for budging too much was taxed $3.00.

And last but not least was a party known as Little Buttercup, a female lady of the feminine persuasion who was inebriated as it were and went over for 10 days to get unebriated.

At a recent wedding our delivery wagon went eight times in one day to deliver presents bought for the bride at our establishment.

As we keep almost everything suitable for Wedding Gifts in Dry Goods, Furniture, Silver Ware, Toilet Sets, etc., our Store has become a specially favorite place for making selections of this kind.

We have therefore had designed and printed some Elegant gant Tinted Cards, to attach to such Gifts, "with the best wishes of" the donor; blank spaces being left for the insertion of names.

The same Cards, with silk ribbon strings attached, will be at the disposal of those who wish to tie them to Holiday Presents bought of us.

The giving of Holiday Gifts this year promises to be almost universal, and we have, therefore, made extraordinary preparations for meeting the demands of our people,

In many departments the display we make exceeds anything ever attempted in Fort Wayne. This is notably true of our Furniture and Fancy Goods stock, as, for instance, in Camp, Rattan and Easy Chairs we are displaying by actual count over different patterns and styles. But notwithstanding this fact, our sales of Holiday Furniture are already so large that we are fearful we shall not be able to supply the demand, and it is now too late to order more goods, as the manufacturers are so driven that goods cannot be obtained under 60 days from the date on which the order is given.
